Anxiety to Don the Judicial Ermine Somewhat Complicates Affairs.

JUDGE AMBROSE'S UNEXPECTED ACTION

Demanded His Seat on the Bench While His Predecessor Was Trying a Case and Had Other Cases to Decide-Business Badly Delayed.

The lawyers, as well as the common peo ple who happened to be lingering in court room No. 3 yesterday morning, were given an illustration of the blocking of the wheels of justice, and for once they saw them blocked as effectually as though they had run into a pile of hard wood railroad ties. This blocking was caused by the transferring of the judicial ermine from the shoulders of one man to the shoulders of another.

Some months ago when Judge Herbert L. Davis resigned his position upon the judicial bench of this district Judge E. R. Duffle was appointed to fill the vacancy until the election and qualification of a successor. As soon as Judge Duffle quantied he took up the business of the court in law room No. 3, where he has since presided.

Last October Judge Duffie was nominated for a place on the judicial bench by the nonpartisan judiciary, which nomination was endersed by the democratic convention. When the republicans held their convention they ignored the action of the nonpartisan convention and pitted G.W. Ambrose against Judge Duffle. Into the political arena the two men went, where they fought to a finish in a battle which lasted until the sun went down on the night of November 7. When the ballots were counted it was discovered that Ambrose was several lengths ahead and that Duffle was numbered among the defeated.,

By a mutual understanding it was claimed By a mutual understanding it was claimed that the retiring judges were to continue upon the bench in the discharge of their respective duties until next Monday morning, December 4, at which time they would turn the dockets over to their successors. Monday, however, Mr. Ambrose went down to Lincoln, where he qualified and took the oath of office, after which he talegraphed H. B. Boyles a steapgrapher of telegraphed H. B. Boyles, a steaographer of the city, the fact, requesting him to notify Judge Duffie. During the evening, and after the courts had adjourned for the day, the notice was served in accordance with the instructions sent by telegraph, and, as a result, it brought on the blockade which pre-ented itself yesterday morning.

Early last week Judge Duffie dook up the trial of the cause of Ogden & West against Jones & Co., a suit brought for the recovery of attorney fees. It was one of the legal battles of the term and Monday the prosecution closed the introduction of testimony, with the defendants ready to put their witnesses upon the stand yesterday morning, with a possibility that the case would be closed this week.

Lawyers Were Astonished.

Yesterday morning both sides appeared and were ready to resume the fight, but the news that Mr. Ambrose had slipped in and qualified had preceded his coming and all of the interested lawyers were at sea as to the outcome of the trial, though they were all of the opinion that as Ambrose had filed his bond and had taken the oath of office, Judge Duffle was a private citizen again, and as such had lost jurisdiction over the case at bar. One and all denounced it as a most impolite thing to do. They said it was an outrage, for the reason that it forced the commencement of the case again and the incurring of a great expense in procuring the testimony of the witnesses who had been upon the stand. They said that it was impolite and unprofessional for the reason that Mr. Ambrose had served no notice upon Judge Duffle that he intended to notice upon Judge Dume that a qualify at so early a date.

For fully half an hour the attorneys continued to resolve themselves into an indignating a waiting the coming of a judge. tion meeting, awaiting the coming of a judge. At last Mr. Ambrose arrived and took a seat within the rail, but there was no cordial greeting such as has heretofore announced th coming of a new judge to the bench. A few moments later Judge Duffle arrived and was compelled to shake the hands of a score of lawyers as he forced his way up to his old and accustomed place. Reaching there he begged the pardon of the members of the bar for being late, after which he made the following remarks:

Judge Duffle's Valedictory.

"Some time last week I had a conference with Judge Ambrose, who informed me that he was about to take a trip to Chicago. My recollection is that he stated that he would return home Tuesday of the present week (today), and that he had received a letter from some member of the state canvassing board, stating that the canvass of the votes would probably be completed on the 27th. That he would take the oath of office and qualify so as to assume the duties of the office on the first Monday in December, which will be next Monday. This was agreeable to me, and I have been devoting my time to a disposition of all unfinished business in my hands so far as I was able.

I have told several members of the bar that after the conclusion of the cases now on trial I would not take up any other jury cases, as the time intervening would be nec essary for the consideration of cases under advisement, the hearing of motions for new trials and the trial of one equity case in Washington county, especially set for next Saturday. I thought I had so arranged as to Saturday. I thought I had so arranged as to have all the unfinished tusiness in my hands fully completed and the proper orders en-tered on record by Saturday evening and everything in readiness to turn over my docket to Judge Ambrose next Monday morn-

After the adjournment of court last even ing Mr. H. B. Boyles, who is to act as Judge Ambrose's reporter, handed me the following telegram. "Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 27, 1893, H. B. Boyles, N. Y. Life. Notify Judge Duffle that I have taken official oath."

Quoted the Statutes.

"I was appointed to the office of district judge to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Judge Davis. The statute relating to such appointments is as follows:"
"Appointments under the provisions of this chapter shall be in writing and continue until the next election, at which the va-cancy can be filled, and until a successor is elected and qualified, and be filed with the secretary of state or proper township clerk, or proper county clerk respectively ' (Sec. 1687, Chap. 15, Cobbey's 91 Statutes.) "It is my belief that under this statute Judge Ambrese, who was nominated to fill the vacancy occasioned dy the resignation of Judge Davis, becomes judge of the court upon qualifying as such, and my powers under the appointment of the governor then under the appointment of the governor then cease.

"Judge Ambrose has now qualified, and the duties of the office devoive upon him. Under these circumstances I think I have no further right or power to proceed with the business of this court or to make any orders, or render any judgments in the cases now in my hands under consideration. Such orders or judgments if entered by me would, I believe, be absolutely void and afford no protection to the sheriff or any person seeking to enforce them. Any further proceedings by me acting as judge of the court instead of settling litigation would only provoke it and be proputive of enaless confusion and embarrassment to the parties and all concerned.

"Under this condition of affirm I have been assent to the parties and all concerned."

ment to the parties and all concerned.
"Under this condition of affairs I think it the wisest course to ston where I am, at the same time assuring the attorneys and parties interested that I will most willingly and cheerfully join in any plan that can be devised to dispose of the cases now in my hands without further cost or trouble to them."

No Greetings Exchanged.

Stepping down to the floor of the room Judge Duffle again shook hands with the lawyers, while Mr. Ambrose stepped upon the bench. There was no greeting between the man who had stepped out and the man who had stepped in, and an observer would have supposed that they were total strangers, but they were not, for not many months ago they were partners and were the

As soon as the change had been made Judge Ambrose said that he was ready to take up any matters. This announcement brought on the trouble in the case which had CAUSED A COURT SENSATION been on trial. The lawfers on both sides dectared that the case could not proceed and the new judge agreed with them. That settled that matter, the jury was discharged and the case was dismissed.

This change has not only affected this particular case, but there are scores of others in equally bad, if not a worse condition, and will have to be tried over again.

From, he beginning of courts in this county it has been the custom with the judges to hear equity cases, take them under advisement and then hand down the convince at a later date during the term. Of opinions at a later date during the term. Of such cases Judge Duffle has fully twenty which he expected to decide next Saturday, but as he has been forced to retire, the de-cifions cannot be given, and nothing remains but to try all such cases again and at another term of the court.

MARY M'KENNA'S WILL.

Arguments in This Celebrated Case Were Opened Yesterday Afternoon,

The arguments in the contest of the will of the late Mary McKenna drew a fair sized audience in the probate court rooms yesterday, where C. A. Baldwin opened for the beirs, who reside in Ireland.

Last February Mary McKenna, a woman ossessed of $7,000, died and by the terms of the will left all of her property to the Cathohe church, of which she was a member, Later on a sister stopped upon the scene of action, claiming that she was entitled to the property and at once, through her attorney, instituted a contest, alleging that the will was signed after the woman was stricken with death, and at a time when her mind was in a condition, making it apparent that she was not capable of disposing of her prop-

The taking of testimony occupied several days, but the arguments were not commenced until yesterday afternoon. In his argument to the court, Mr. Baldwin charged that the witnesses who appeared on behalf of the church had been guilty of perjury; that they were not afraid to do this, simply because they felt that they could lie and then go to some priest and by paying $2.50 have their sins washed away.

Mary McKenna died at St. Joseph's hospital, where she was cared for by the Franciscan sisterhood. The members of that institution Mr. Baldwin characterized as fawning prosecytes. Today Baldwin will continue his arguments, after which the other side will have a chance at the bat.

In Federal Court. The federal petit jury having in hand the case of Mrs. Catherine Beard against the Mutual Reserve Fund Life association, in which the plaintiff sued to recover on a policy of $5,000 issued to her husband, found a verdict yesterday for the plaintiff for the full amount of the policy and accrued interest. The yerdict embraced twenty-two special findings, the most important of which contradicted the theory of the de-fense that Beard was intemperate, not in good health, that he died while intoxicated, that the policy had lapsed, and that, therefore, the polity contract was void.

The case of M. M. Morrill of the state of Washington against H. B. Law os Lincoln is now on trial. The soit, whish is for damages in the sum of $2,500, is based on an attachment, alleged to be illegal, of a grocery stock at Lincoln formerly owned by C. A. Morrill, a brother of the plaintiff, bur which the plaintiff had take possession of under a bill of sale prior to the levying of the attach-

Other Court Matters.

The case of the state against Fred Mengedoht had a brief hearing in Judge Scott's court yesterday when the attorney for the defendant filed a motion to quash the information, alleging that there was no provision of law requiring the defendant to plead to an information, as he had not been indicted by a grand jury. The motion was overruled. Eliza W. Patrick has sucd N. D. Allen and the others who were the stockholders in the Patrick Land company for $87,008, the amount due on a deficiency judgment.

During the boom days the Patrick Land company, a syndicate composed of Kansas City capitalists bought the land which now comprises Dundee place and paid a portion of the purchase money. They gave a mort-gage, which was foreclosed.

Ida M. Chapman has secured a divorce from her husband, Mitchell, who, not long ago, was a bailiff in the district court. The grounds for the granting of the decree were that Mitchell was a very gay boy and loved too many women well, but not wisely.

without a dissenting voice:

Whereas, The principles of the order of the Knights of Labor preach and teach among other economic truths that all gas and electric light plants should be owned by and operated for the community, wherever located; and

Whereas, It is notorious that through scientific improvements in its manufacture the cost of making gas has been cheapened until it can and is being delivered to consumers at in some places, na low as 75 cents per 1,000 feet; and

Whereas, The trend of improvement is constantly to a decreased cost of manufacture; and stantly to a decreased cost of manufacture; and

Whereas. The city council has recently granted a franchise to extend the contract with the Omaha Gas Manufacturing company for fifty years at a price of $1.75 per 1.000 feet without any real concessions or compensation to the city; therefore be it.

Resolved, That this district assembly condemns the infamous methods resorted to and denounces the city council for its action in shamelessiy granting such wicked extension of franchise.

IMPLEMENT DEALERS.

Annual Convention of the Nebraska Association at Board of Trade, The annual session of the Nebraska Implement Dealers association convened in the Board of Trade rooms yesterday, with nearly 100 members in attendance. A short address of welcome was delivered by W. A. L. Gibbon of the Commercial club, to which W. A. Shumway of Wakefield responded. This was followed by the delivering of the annual address by J. M. Burks, the president of the association. In addressing the members the president spoke of the trials and tribulations which hovered in the pathway of the implement dealer, especially the one who happened to deal in agricultural implements. He advocated the eash plan, saying that where it had been adopted it had proved beneficial to both the dealer and the buyer. So far as he could learn, the year had been a prosperous one with most of the members of the association and many of them had gathered in their share of the wealth of the world.

H. P. Shumway, chairman of the committee on railroad freight rates and legislation, reported that he on the members of his tion, reported that he on the members of his committee had met with all of the general freight agents of the several lines operating in the state, but had been unable to secret the reduction of the rates on machinery. Several promises had been secured, but owing to the operations of the maximum law a settlement had not been effected.

THANKSGIVING.

Is not the day when you swear off for a year. Its a day devoted to thanks. 68 millions of people who form this model Amrican nation, feast, rest, rejoice and honor the day. Each blessed soul has something to be thankful for, even the young min whose sweetheart has married another. Some express gratitude for a democratic administration, some rowa politician thank because some 30 odd thousand voters have sympathized with him in his efforts to retire to private life. Sensible clothing buyers thank for that late money panic. The Nebraska offers thanks for your liberal patronage, and unlimited confidence.

Going to have a turkey dinner that'll last a week. Man and boy will get a slice. Carving prices on 6 pretty, warm, long and durable ulsters. Anticipate buying one this season, ch? Just scrutinize this offer for a minute.

FOUR FIFTY For Boys.

For boys up to 20 years old. We carved an $8.00 ulster down to $4.50, just because we can't afford to sell it at less. Would have been $8.00 if we did'nt have that brainy buyer with eagle eyes back east 2 styles-2 colors-gray and brown-Shetland cloth lined with fancy checked stuff.

SIX FIFTY For Boys. F.

As old as 20 years. It would take a $10 bill to buy one-and there wouldn't be a dime wasted as far as honest value is concerned. Again 2 colors-2 fabrics-one of black chinchilla-one of gray shetland—one style—the newest of shawl collar and exquisitely ornamented with passamenterie-lined with fancy checks.

TEN FIFTY For Men,

Svery size known. Here we carve the firm of the Thanksgiving Toskey and throw in the sauce. If it ain't the best ulster ever obtained by man for $18 we'll agree to throw in the champagne. 2 colors-2 fabrics-Take your choice. The gray is an Irish Freize, extremely long and a fort against cold-The black is of a fine Shetland overcoating, with shawl collar, passamentric trimmings-Both lined with contrasting blue or gray linings that usually serves to donate an aristocratic appearance to the garment. Consider this our Thanksgiving treat.

THANKSGIVING--Our Establishment will Close at Noon.

You'd Holler

If your wife traded with a grocer who threw a few handfuls of sugar into a bag and "guessed she had a pound." You'd talk scales to her.

Why not talk scales to yourself? Aren't YOU "guessing" about the circulation of some of the papers you use.

> CAUTION-There's no guess work in dealing with this paper. Our circulation's printed on the editorial page. You know what you're buying and you get what you pay for.
